Farm linen cloth vanilla

Linen Fabric Item Level: 5
Where to Farm: Darkshore, Dun Morogh
Silverpine Forest and Barrens
Recommended Level: 11+
Linen is the lowest level of fabric in World of Warcraft and it's very easy to farm. It usually costs anywhere from 1 gold to 5 gold for every stack of 20 you can sell. This is a great way to create your first pair of gold on a brand new character. Laundry drops from the level of 10 to 20 humanoid, which include kobolds, troggs, humans, worgens, orcs, etc. Check out the following maps to see the best places to farm this substance.
Update: You can make a lot of gold with laundry, but if you want to raise thousands of gold, you should read my personal favorite guide.
Where farm Linen
Alliance Best place to farm laundry cloth like Alliance is in Darkshore or Dun Morogh, Should you head to any of these areas when you are between levels 11 and 15 on Farm Linen:
Darkshore: Dun Morogh
Horde The best place to farm laundry fabric like a horde is in Silverpine Forest or North Barrens:
Silverpine Forest
North Barrens
Tip: Have you ever wondered how players have so many level 85s or how they can level 85 so quickly? I use and strongly recommend Zygor is an in-game leveling addon that allows you to level in 5 days of played time. The free version can be found here.
If in a previous post I put in canvas cloth view instead of for Alliance players, here's the equivalent one for Horde. It's in Ghostlands, it's not exactly a common starting zone for most Horde races, but it's a pretty good place.
Requirements:
Where to go: Teleport to Undercity in Tinsfal Glades, then fly to Tranquillien in Ghostlands. From here, go southwest, to the Underlight mines. (29-49).
What to do: Start grinding on the gnolls there and collect everything to drop. Clean up the crowds in the two small caves there those in the open space outside, and those at the edges of the big pit. The most valuable resource you can get here, without any profession, is the canvas fabric that it will abandon. The rate of re-naked is quite fast, in fact there will never be crowds, even if other players are looking for this place. This is actually one of the best places to farm laundry fabric for the horde since the release of Pandaria Fog.
Booty: After one hour here, play level 20 wizard, I have:
Canvas Cloth x237 = 20g/stack = 237g
Lesser Healing Potion x5 = 3g
Shadowgem x1 = 10g
Tigerseye x1 = 7g/each = 7g
Pattern: White Skin Jerkin x1 = 2.0g
Green Item x7 = 5g/each = 35g
Cash (after selling loot from garbage): 1g
TOTAL: 313 gold per hour farming
Tips: The normal price for a stack of canvas is 10-15g, but prices usually fluctuate and rise by up to 40 g. Since laundry fabric is crafting material on very high demand, I usually put it up for sale on a 20g tray. It sells pretty well this way. However, even if there are chimneys for sale at 2-3g, you can still auction your own for 20-30g per tray. Sometimes they sell out even at high prices. If Have tailoring, you can turn linen fabrics into screws and sell screws. Sometimes it's more convenient this way.
Disillusioned with the green stuff from this place, if you don't want to sell it, you get Lesser Magic Essences and Strange Dust, the lowest glamorous materials. If you also have mining, you will find a couple of knots of copper ore inside the caves, so pick up as well, for extra money.
I made this laundry cloth farming guide to help players who want to farm fabrics instead of buying them from the auction house. I decided to look for places with high density crowds that I can kill and drop [Laundry Cloth]. I was traveling around Azeroth and after a while I made a list of places.
Westfall - Alliance The best place to farm laundry cloth is killing Riverpaw Gnolls near Sentinel Hill in Westfall. They respawn very quickly - sometimes a new friction before the last one hits the ground. Unfortunately, this site only works for Alliance players, or max level Horde players, because this is an Alliance city, and there are a couple of high level NPC Alliances out there. If you've completed the last major quest line in Westfall, ending with a return to Sentinel Hill, you can't farm these crowds.
Silverpine Forest - Horde Hillsbrad
Worgens in Silverpine Forest drop laundry cloth exclusively. They have fast respawn speed and worgens are not that far apart.
Darkshore - Alliance Twilight Fanatic crowds in Darkshore drop 1-3 canvas fabrics with 80% chance. There are always at least 3 crowds alive and they are close together.
Azshara - Horde A good place to farm laundry fabrics are restless spirits in Azshara. Most will fall one to three linen fabrics. If you are not able to farm at any of these places because you have done quests, just go to my Wool Cloth Farming guide.
While Farming Wool Cloth, you get a lot of canvases, most crowds drop both.

Places on the Farm between 5-14 levels most humanites mobolds drop linen. The peak range is 10-14, where you can expect to kill 1-3 crowds for each laundry. If the level is not a problem: the highest [[1]] rate of decline (60%+) seems to be from residents of Pyrewood Village, which are only hostile to the Horde during the day, even if the enemy-to-all worgen are transformed into at night they seem to have the next highest drop rate. But due to the limitations of the time of day discomfort location for the Alliance, the most effective agricultural sites for the Alliance seem to be trolls either in Gol'Bolar Quarry in Dun Morogh, or stonespinter valley in southern Loch Modan.
